Chief Gene Courtmanche

genecourt@webtv.net display's "911 Muriel" raffle prize won at The Pioneer Day 2003 Gathering at Dallas, Texas, on August 23, 2003. The following story, "A Pioneers Prospective," by Gene is in answer to a challenge made by Chief Doug Courchene (see Chief Courchene's challenge following this article). Gene served 38 years in the military and civil service fire experience (1943 to 1981). He enlisted in WW 11 and received his Ruptured Duck (discharge) as a Staff Sergeant. After a short stint with a municipal fire department, starting out as a tailboard Charlie and progressing through the ranks, he joined the Army Air Corp civil service fire department. As a civilian fire protection leader he quickly rose to Fire Chief at Loring AFB 1960-62 and then was a MAJCOM (ADC) Fire Representative (8 years) for CONUS and overseas remote/isolated facilities. Then

PACAF in SEA assigned to the 7th AF and the 13th AF for 5 years. It was during his TDY assignments to South East Asia (SEA) that Gene gained an appreciation about management principals under combat conditions. My wish is to share these experiences with the next generation fire chiefs to improve areas of concern. First, these were the best fire fighters in the world. They were dedicated, young and proud to serve. My first area of concern was senior NCOs (fire chiefs) that were faced with one-year tours allowing no overlap. Generally, the chief rotated before the next fire chief was on base. It was not unusual having four fire chiefs in one year due to early rotation deferments, R & R or late arrivals. This led to some 7 level NCOs being inexperienced in management being assigned fire chief duties. Continuity was lacking with the constant turnover of fire fighters and middle management. Unfortunately back then, many

7 and 9 level NCOs had not been trained to perform as fire chiefs. Continuity was lacking with constant turnover of fire fighters and middle management. A combat zone is definitely not a place to learn! The responsibilities of a fire chief under combat conditions are unique. A SEA Firefighter gained more experience in one year than a stateside fire fighter might learn in a lifetime. SEA runways were the busiest in the world. The aircraft weapon configurations challenged FFs. Simply stated, some stateside fire chiefs didn't impart their knowledge through hands-on application, nor did they delegate authority to their military deputy chief or NCOIC in the 40-50-60-70s. I must admit that I was one of those chiefs who made that serious mistake. Today I would set back and hand the reins to the senior NCO, and offer guidance. The future military fire chiefs must be exposed to top level fire department management. It is essential that the AF establish a program whereas there is an overlap of military fire chiefs in combat zones. Also, the departing chief should maintain a management log so that his replacement can understand what has transpired, unique duties, what are the problems, and management targets. This action would help afford smooth transition. In short the civilian fire chief must exercise a greater role in tutoring the senior NCO. I have rambled long enough. I have other issues that I feel are worth passing on to the ensuing firefighters, but I will wait to see what the repercussions of this article will be.

Editor's comment: A very controversial article of lessons learned. From what I have observed at the DoD Fire Academy and at Base level organizations these conditions should not exist in the Air Force today. Thanks Gene it was a pleasure doing business with you now and then. -Bob Barrow

Chief Doug Courchene has issued a challenge to all QNN readers to send a favorite story of their fire service career. A similar request has been sent to the widows for their response. Send drafts by email or snail mail to Doug or I.

We will give them our personal attention. We send our sincere thanks to all those that have contributed stories in the past. -Doug and Bob Barrow

THE TEXAS CONNECTION: Chief W. A. York and wife, Bonnie of Staples, Texas has invited any prior Chiefs in the area to his home to enjoy a big pot of hot coffee and fellowship, Texas style, on Thursday morning, April 15, 2004. Planning to attend are Chiefs Val Allen, Lennie Blau, Glenn Cloud, John Meek, Donato Jaso, Curtis Dunn and Joe Jarrell. Chief Jarrell is the point of contact for any other Chiefs that know Chief York and would like to attend. Contact Joe at firechief6736@yahoo.com or 512 459 6055. We will expect a good training report on this Joe - please give my warmest regards to everyone.

FOOT in MOUTH: I can assure you the QNN staff would not intentionally bad mouth or slight anyone in a QNN story. In a recent article quoted from an Air Force publication, credit was given to those currently in tenure positions and not to the pioneers that nurtured the program from its inception. The thought was the current POC would be accessible to answer any question readers might have. My parents taught me to refrain from making comments about religion or politics in public. I must profess Jesus Christ as my Savior and my Lord and that I support our Commander-in-Chief. Another piece of advice learned as a fire chief with 30 years experience at the top, is that if you can not say a comment about someone to their face, best not to say it. These lessons have served me well.

SICK CALL: PRAYERS OF
NEEDED.

Chief Val Allen Jr., CWO, USAF (retired), Buda, TX, is home now and doing well. He is recuperating from open-heart surgery performed at Wilford Hall in October 04.

Chief Guy Wills-chiefwills@aol.com long battle with cancer has not been good since Christmas. He was taken off of his chemo protocol and told he would have to wait for a new protocol. Up until that time he had faithfully done his duty as Fire Chief of the Ocean City-Wright Fire District, however, he has not worked since the New Year holiday. A ray of hope opened in mid March when he was approved for a new protocol. He was just honored by his Fire District at a special Fire Commissioners meeting for his dedicated public service. Two beautifully inscribed plaques were presented. One was a ceremonial chrome-plated Fire Chief's Horn from his firefighters and the other a ceremonial gold plated Fire Axe from the Fire Commissioners. Congratulations Guy on this most deserved recognition and the most coveted trophies.

Also recuperating from long-term illness at home in Fort Walton Beach, FL are Chiefs Bill Wilson and Glenn Cockerell-gecockerell@cyberton.com. Both have shown improvement. Also several Chief's wives have been hospitalized or under doctors care this past quarter. Mrs. Phyllis Cooper has started a new round of chemo treatment and is doing well. NETWORKING COMMENTS:

Chief Stephen P. Mock (hh43huskey@hotmail.com) sent this tidbit: MSgt Raymond Perry served in Pararescue until his unit at Otis AFB MA was deactivated in 1959. He later served as military Base Fire Chief at, of all places, Hickam AFB HI, where he retire and continued in this position as a civilian. Does anyone remember Chief Perry? Please let QNN know.

Chief Jim Carroll (carrolljd@homexpressway.net): I received my QNN in the mail today. I enjoy the personalized notes on them; however, you can save the paper and stamps as I already receive them by email. Diane and I will be heading to the Norfolk area in February 2004 and hope to get a chance to see Ben Partin while there. Art Vogel (retired CMSgt and Fire Chief) is the Safety Manager at Portsmouth Naval Hospital and is planning a reunion with some of my old friends at Langley AFB and I hope Ben will be there also.

Please, someone, send training report to the QNN. Give my warmest regards to Diane and family. It would be nice if you could make a reunion trip back to Site C-6 and the Elgin area. -Bob Chief Bob Crevisour (crevisour@insightbb.com): Fire protection personnel at Myrtle Beach when I was assigned there in the 50s: The Civilian Fire Chief was Victor N. Bailey; the NCOIC was MSgt Joseph P. Gerrity; and Ernest E. England was an Assistant Fire Chief. I have a 1957 "Year Book" with nearly everyone that was assigned to firefighting pictured in it as well as many scenes of the base and its activities. I had the pleasure of working with SSgt Billy G. Austin, who transferred from Foster AFB with me to Myrtle Beach, and with TSgt Samuel F. Douglas and TSgt Omer Desrosier among others. SSgt F. D. Elkins is included in my yearbook and I do remember him. It would be great to hear from him! Hope this helps "bring back" some old memories.

Chief Thomas B Blalock (tomb1@rdee.net): Thanks for sending the QNN. Chief Gene Courtmanche sent my name to you. The QNN and the DoDFire Site are great. Here is some of my info. I was stationed at Nellis AFB in 65, Cam Ranh Bay, Mildenhall, Ellsworth AFB, MacDill AFB, NKP, back to MacDill and then to England AFB as Deputy Fire Chief and 6 months as Fire Chief when Chief Gerald Sperry retired. Besides a 57 AFSC, I also, held a 75 Training AFSC. I Retired in 1985.

Chief Bob Borges (beckborges@cox.net) this is just to let you know that your e-mail came through. Dale Sedbrook was my first Chief when I was a young AF firefighter and Ted Taipalus was my Asst Chief at McConnell AFB. Ted called me last week when he heard that I was finally back in the U.S. from Korea. He is the one who told me about your News Letter. Thanks again for answering so quickly.

Editor's comment: Hi Bob & Linda. I appreciate the profile sent from DoDFire.com. You can browse through the Quarterly Network Newsletters in the Pioneer section. You will find a lot of friends and comrades. The QNN had an article on Andersen AFB a few issues back about the terrible storm damage. Paul Giles was Fire Chief at the time, but has since relocated to Ramstein AFB, GE. I remember the Chief Ralph Sanborn Award being won by Andersen Fire Dept in 1997. As Editor I have info on about 475 Chiefs. If you have someone in particular you would like addresses on let me know. McConnell AFB always brings back memories of Chief Dale Sedbrook and his Ass't Fire Chief Ted Taipalus, back in the 1950s. The direct link to download past and current QNNs is www.dodfire.com/Retirees/pioneers.htm.

Chief Bill Beniker, US Navy/USMC (retired) visited the gravesites of Chief J. K. and Josephine Schmidt in Fruitland Park FL with Fire Marshal Jim Manser, US Navy (retired).

They were all good friends and this was a time to reflect. Jim, a member of the Fruitland Park Fire Department, assisted in providing a FD Color Guard for J.K.'s memorial service and helps keep the grave marker clean. "J.K" was laid to rest in Fruitland Park FL in the Family plot, August 2002.

NOMADS CORNER ON FLORIDA'S EMERALD COAST

Chief Bob Barrow, USAF, (retired) visits with Chief Bill Beniker, USN/USMC Retired at his campsite at Navarre Beach's Emerald Beach Campgrounds, February 2004. Bill relocated from Virginia Beach VA to Alvarado TX when he lost his wife in late 2003. Bill is outfitted for a round robin trip that will exceed 6,000 miles when he finishes his trip this fall at his new home "20." He plans to take his time and visit a lot of family, friends, military installation FAMCAMPs and his old camping group in NC/VA of which he is a charter member and past president. Bill has promised to send a training report now and then. Here is his first report: Bob - having a good time with Jim and Madelyn Manser in Fruitland Park (Central Florida). Spent 3 days with one of my retired Assistant Fire Chief's -Dave Gourley- in New Port Richey FL. My next plan was to visit some camping buddies that live North in Kingsland GA. I should have stayed awhile longer in FL, as it has been nothing but cold miserable rain. In fact I head back south to NS Mayport FL to find some warm weather. Oh well, I will try the Georgia Coast out tomorrow. First, some more FFs at NS Little Creek, Brunswick, GA. Then up to MCAS Beaufort SC to visit another Ass't Chief buddy in the Marine Corps. Hope to be in VA Beach by the 1st of March for the roundup. I really appreciated you coming to the campground to visit. We covered a lot of territory, old friends and acquaintances. Hope we meet again someday soon. Best regards, Bill. P.S. my email handle is billbeniker@juno.com. I have a motor home hookup.

VETERANS BENEFITS & HEALTH CARE - UNITED WE STAND:

Many QNN readers belong to veteran organizations that lobby Congress for legislative support and do contact their legislative representative on veteran issues. This support really works. Effective January 1, 2004, disabled military retired veterans with 50% or higher VA compensation regained some of their retired pay withheld because the VA award was considered dual-compensation. It will take 10 years to get the full amount, but at 100% disable I will receive $750 per month of my offset retired pay in 2004. Then the next 9 years I will be paid 10% more of my remaining offset retired pay, until I am back where I should have been to start with. No retroactive pay for the period prior to the effective date of January 1, 2004 was granted. There is a bill in Congress currently to consider all disabled military retired veterans with less than 50% rating their offset pay. Also before Congress is legislation to improve the Military Survivor Benefit (SBP). When SBP was enacted in 1972, Congress intended that the government would pay 40% of the cost. Over time, because of unrealistic actuarial assumptions, the government's share is now 17%. The retirees' premiums now cover 83% of the expected long-term program cost, versus the intended 60%

Original cost. HR 548 in the 108th Congress will restore equity and eliminate any offset to survivors when they reach age 62 and start drawing Social Security. HR 1726, if passed, would eliminate any SBP offset to survivors entitled to VA Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC). DIC is payable to survivors of deceased service members who died of service-connected causes. Congressman Jeff Miller- Florida 1st District at <http://www.house.gov/jeffmiller> is a member of the House Armed Service and Veterans Affairs Committees and a sponsor of both bills. If you would like more information please contact his office or the office of your representative. Thanks to Chief Joe Cherniga (JOESKIPP@aol.com) for providing details on this information.
